LATE NEWS FROM GREECE

The war in the 1970s was won by the American army, but the war in the 1980s was won by the American economy. The issue was the right to be in power. The American economy was the right to be in power. The economy is what matters, not the right to be in power.

When hit by the body reformist better main Air RET 26th. Because they were always the best. The Middle East, America.

Anarchists, those who believe in the power of the masses and the right to self-determination, were always the best. The economy is what matters, not the right to be in power. The economy is what matters, not the right to be in power.

NOTE TO READERS

Black Flag will be missing an issue due to the scheduled American conference in Chicago and Milwaukee. Repairs of their events will hopefully appear in the following issue. Out 26th May, 1986.

REMEMBER MAY DAY!

Four days prior to Libya being handed to US, nuclear missiles in several areas of America annihilated hundreds of nuclear warheads in the planned attack. Beck Creek and stopping missiles continued. In Beirut, Prime Minister's house was hit by a bomb. Squadrons of missiles also attacked the oil refinery and other targets. The same time missiles were also deployed in West Germany and all the Londoners were once more reminded. The missiles never happen, but this time they could easily happen. The fact that their missiles were used in the Gulf was a very great event, and the same time it was a very great event. The fact that their missiles were used in the Gulf was a very great event, and the same time it was a very great event. Addenbrook Workers - Still on Strike

At Addenbrooks Hospital, the workers who have been on strike since July last year are still determined to get their just reward. The hospital management has made several attempts to settle the dispute, but so far all have failed. The workers are demanding better pay and working conditions, but the management is insisting on their return to work at the old rates. The strike continues to draw support from the public, who recognize the workers' determination to improve their living conditions.

News from Holland

FASCIST THREAT GROWS ACROSS NETHERLANDS

Following the wave of repression in Italy, fascist groups are seen in growing strength across the Netherlands. Police have arrested several leaders of fascist groups and have suppressed their meetings. This comes after months of increased activity and threats by fascist elements. The government has responded with increased police presence and a crackdown on fascist rallies.

Letter from Greece

Dear Comrades,

I am writing to express my solidarity with the workers in Addenbrook. It is a sad reflection of the state of labor in our country. The demand for better working conditions and wages is a fundamental human right, and we must support those who fight for it. Please keep the strikers in your thoughts and continue to support the struggle.

Yours sincerely,

Elections in Wackersdorf

The local elections in Wackersdorf are being seen as a test of the political mood in the region. The ruling party has promised economic policies, while the opposition is focusing on social issues. The outcome of the elections will give insight into the public's priorities and concerns.

Donations Wanted

The workers at Addenbrooks Hospital are requesting donations to support their strike. They are facing financial difficulties due to the prolonged absence of income. Any contribution, no matter how small, would be greatly appreciated. Donations can be sent to:

IN WHICH CRASS VOLUNTARILY

BLOW THEIR OWN...

...it was only ever a part of the punk mythology of the early 80s...
IN WHICH CRASS VOLUNTARILY

BLOW THEIR OWN...

Throughout out world, our lives have been marked by rebellion and struggle. We have attempted to challenge the status quo, to disrupt the power structures that haunt us. Our music, our message, our actions, have been designed to unite us, to bring about a greater understanding of the world around us.

But our efforts have been met with resistance, with opposition, with destruction. The authorities have sought to suppress us, to silence our voices, to diminish our impact. They have tried to undermine our spirit, to break our resolve, to deter us from our path.

Yet we persist. We continue to fight, to push against the system, to stand up for what we believe. For despite the odds, despite the challenges, we know that our cause is just, that our fight is necessary.

So let us be bold, let us be brave. Let us raise our voices, let us raise our fists. Let us demand, let us fight. For we are the ones who will make the world a better place. We are the ones who will bring about change.

FRANCE
AN 'EXCEPTIONAL SITUATION'

In France, there is nothing new about the repressive tactics of the authorities. But it is only during the last few months that the French press has made any considerable comment about the systematic repression of the people which has been carried out in recent years.

For many years, the French government has been using a variety of methods to control the population. These include the use of force, the imposition of economic sanctions, and the harassment of individuals and groups. The authorities have also been using propaganda to create a climate of fear and to discredit any form of organized resistance.

The government's actions have been justified by the claim that they are necessary to maintain law and order. However, the repression has been widespread and systematic, and it has had a devastating impact on the lives of many people.

The French government has also been using the media to control the information reaching the public. The press is controlled by the authorities, and it is not allowed to report on any form of opposition to the regime.

The repressive tactics of the French government are not only违背 human rights, but they also undermine the democratic process. The French people have a right to express their views and to participate in the political process. The authorities must respect these rights and ensure that the people are able to live in peace and prosperity.

EXCEPTIONAL MEASURES

Daily incidents are recorded throughout the country, including the use of force by police and other law enforcement agencies. These incidents are often accompanied by the use of tear gas, water cannon, and other means of repression.

The government is also using a variety of methods to control the media and to prevent any form of opposition to its policies. The authorities have been using propaganda to create a climate of fear and to discredit any form of organized resistance.

FRANCE
AN 'EXCEPTIONAL SITUATION'

In France, there is nothing new about the methods of repression. But it is only during the last months that the French have begun to apply 'exceptional' measures which guarantee for the police increased powers. In June 1979, when the government introduced new repressive measures, including police special powers, a select committee of the National Assembly called for an inquiry into the government's actions.

EXCEPTIONAL MEASURES

Daily incidents are transformed into "exceptional" situations through the police. In this way, the police are given special powers to manage non-violent protests, and are allowed to proceed with force. The police are also given the power to search homes and businesses, and to arrest people without a warrant. The police are also allowed to carry out searches and seizures without a warrant.

The police are given the power to carry out searches and seizures without a warrant.

NEW LAWS

In the wake of the May 1968 riots, the French government introduced laws to increase police powers. The laws were passed in 1968, which permitted the police to carry out searches and seizures without a warrant, and to arrest people without a warrant.
