THE MAN OUT OF THE MOON

One night, as the moon was full, a man went out to see if the things he had heard of were true. He had heard that the moon was made of cheese and that there was a man inside. He went to the window and looked up at the moon. He saw a man inside, and he thought to himself, "This is the man who made the moon out of cheese!"

He went to his room and looked at his watch. It was midnight. He thought, "This is the time when I will go up to the moon and see the man inside." So he went up to the moon and knocked on the door. The man inside opened the door and said, "Who is it?"

"It is the man who made the moon out of cheese," said the other man.

"I know," said the man inside. "Come in and sit down." So the other man sat down and talked to the man inside. He told him all about the cheese and how he had made the moon out of it. The man inside was very excited. He had never heard of anyone doing that before.

"But why did you do it?" asked the other man.

"I did it because I wanted to," said the man inside. "I wanted to see what it would be like to have a moon made of cheese." So the other man said, "Well, you did it, and now you have a moon made of cheese."
