

HULL CLASS WAR

No. 2

Probably a couple of the most memorable cultures that will emerge from the 80's will be that of the Yuppies and the Lager Lout.

But what exactly is the Lager Lout? Is it merely a lout that happens to drink lager? Why then don't we have bitter, mild or brown ale louts? Could it be that the breweries have invented a secret ingredient which they add to lager and which turns the most obedient and humble person into a raging axe wielding madman? The answer, of course, is no but it's those that point the finger and yell lager lout that it benefits - the ruling elite who use their mouthpiece, the media, to do so.

For a long time they've been searching for an excuse for the rising tide of violence - bad parents, bad teachers, T.V. violence, video nasties, chocolate etc etc. Then the invention of the lable 'lager lout' came which stuck immediately and which the tabloids glamorized to such an extent that we all too often fell into it and some of us did so deliberately, just like any other culture. The working class at each others throats yet again whilst the ruling elite sat on their arses laughing their heads off at us kicking the shit out of each other without them having to lift a finger. They've really done well this time killing two birds with one stone. An excuse for all the violence and a way of keeping us at each others throats instead of threatening their privileged life styles they've gained from the exploitation of our labour.

This, however, doesn't explain why were so violent in the first place - which comes down to two factors.

Firstly after we've had a few drinks we couldn't give a toss about the boss and if he walked through the door he'd probably get a well deserved kicking. In fact after a few drinks we're ready to take on the whole bloody system. It is a fact that after a few drinks, as well as numerous other things, our inhibitions and fears are numbed, Dutch courage, so that we couldn't give a toss about the boss or anybody else for that matter! We behave in a way that we'd often like to when we're sober but don't because we live in the fear of the consequences, getting sacked etc.

Secondly our entire lives are built on violence or the fear of it. From the cradel to the grave we submit to the violence of the various authorities - God, parents, capitalist and ruler. We live in the fear of punishment from God and the devil, the boss and employer, the politician and policeman, the judge and jailer. Our whole lives are lived within an interwoven pattern of violence.

But when do we ever question the rights and wrongs of their violence? We don't because theirs is lawful violence. Made lawful to keep us inline.

The example of when the father bosses his son and that same son then takes this violation out on someone he can dominate - his younger brother etc. - is common to us all. If we're honest with ourselves we've all done it whether under different circumstances or not.

In adult life we submit to the domination of the judge, boss and government because of their powers to deprive us of work and ability to put us behind bars - the same power that we've given them. Because we get so much shit and violence thrust upon us every day of our lives that we naturally and subconsciously seek revenge by violating others we feel we can dominate - the workmate, the neighbour, the bloke stood next to you at the bar.

It's the combination of these two factors which causes the trouble we have today. Alcohol is just the spark that ignites the fire.

ALL CLEAR

However things aren't all bad. In areas throughout the country people are turning away from using violence against each other and are turning it towards those in the front line - the police. The pigs are now facing the fustration and utter anger born from the injustices we all face head on and so they should for they are the front line in the ruling classes defence against us. Lets not forget that's the sole reason for their creation and their existence today. To protect the ruling elite, their laws, their privileges, the wealth they've stolen from us. The time has come for us all to focus our anger on these bastards and the bastards that protect them. It is war, CLASS WAR.

Lastly a little warning to all those piggies down at Queens Gardens H.Q. and the rich scum living around Hull... WATCH OUT THEIR'S A LAGER LOU ABOUT!

LETTERS

Dear Hull C.W.,

I've decided to write to you about how the D.H.S.S. are trying to yuppiefy the Northern working class..

I was recently sent, by the above mentioned, to college on a weeks course on how to grovel to yuppie bosses.

What a bunch of patronising bastards they were. Telling us how we had lost confidence and how we were depressed and lacked the get up and go. After throwing a couple of spanners into the works all the people who were there really came out of their shells.

By about dinner time, on the first day, they had begun to see how much 'real' people cared about their pathetic game. The place was in uproar!

What they seem to forget is that working class people can't be shocked, scared or bullied into subservience.

The people running the course were supposedly independent of Government/establishment and everything was confidential-bullshit! On the last day who should turn up but the D.H.S.S., trying to put the boot in.

So much for independence and confidentiality. Anyway this is a classic example of how working class people can fight back against the shitty plans they have for us all. Some of the older members of the group were even shouting for revolution.

We can resist and refuse.

Yours Andy

HURDS ANGELS

So the 'Guardian Angels' are planing to come to Hull to set up a new 'chapte'. No longer shall we have crime on our streets - hooligans, vandals, lager louts, muggers and rapists will become a thing of the past!

Are they then to decend upon our communities to demonstrate how we should go about policing our own areas without the pigs interfering? No.

The 'Guardian Angels' are nothing more than a vigilante group, headed by the rich parasite Curtis Sliwa, and anyone who looks suspicious or out of place will be pounced upon by these pricks and in due time handed over to the filth. They are nothing more than an extension to the police and should be treated as such.

We here at Hull C.W. look forward to their arrival and hope they enjoy the welcome party....

Death Row....

PC. Donald Barker

This issues overwhelmingly deserved nomination for 'Death Row' is PC bastard Barker who used his position and power to sexually assault a schoolgirl.

Whilst off duty on 21st Nov. 88 he picked up two girls aged 14 & 15 whom he already knew from been on the beat, and knowing him to be a policeman they believed themselves to be in safe hands. He then took them to an isolated lane by one of his favourite fishing spots whereupon he began to ply the girls with rum. He then began to fondle the 15 year old girl and placed his hands upon her thighs.

After been cleared of the charge the judge, Peter Baker, stated that Barker was an 'admirable officer and was an example to other young officers' - just what you'd expect from the biggest group of child molesting perverts around! Yet more proof that those in power look after their own and yet more proof that if we want justice we must take their 'law' into our own hands. This bastards should be strung up by the balls but don't rely on the 'Guardian Angels' to do it.

CHOCKS AWAY

If we're to cooperate with the council and put our dustmen out of work by using the new "labour saving" dustbins, the wheelie dustbins, then the least we can do is to put them to good use. Round up the local toffs councillors & rich scum and wheel 'em down to the nearest incinerator.
