TOILET

ARCHWAY SQUAT. WAS IN IT FOR THE LONG RUN(S)

7 years.
4 court papers.
2 illegal eviction attempts. (Surely 2a. Ed)
27th August archway squat finally got the bullet.
Sam the Lock father was already outside.

3 of us ended up on the roof for the last 3 hours.
Until the police and landlord were hanging on roof hatch.
That's when we made our way out.

PJF

Persons unknown festivals ANNUAL event in Manchester smashed it again all (WEEK)end and even if rumours has it it was definitely "NOT" being held in our secret (TR)Antifa head quarters...
URINALL our good books we shit you not!

BL(ASS)PHEMY AT ST LUKES

We attended what we thought would be a nice wholesome godly film screening the other night at our local congregation of St Lukes in Deptford, and found it taken over by dirty squatters! Absolute filth, housing homeless people, sharing food and hosting community events. We're praying to god every day for their removal. We got the possession order in the court already.

SQUATS DAY! OR SQUATTERS SPORTS DAY. WAS OFF THE (BRISTOL STOOL) CHARTS!

...or a sports day for people who hate sports and/or school and/or Glastonbury, was held on a quiet and muggy Saturday 28th June in a park in east Bristol, raising money for Bristol ABC. A group of squatterz, queerz and wrong'uns gathered round a large oak tree in the middle of the park to hang out, get rowdy and have fun, sweating from the humidity of the day and hyper as fuck thanks to the array of refined sugar options from the vegan cake sale, crisp sandwich bar, and lukewarm cans of fizzy pop, cider and bucky shandy (it's a thing!). The games and chaos lasted many hours with our MC keeping everyone hyped! The games included the scabies contaminated binbag throw, crew legged race and trolley relay which inevitably descended into nonsensical trolley fighting carnage with only a few minor-ish injuries...
Prizes of the Official Squats Day Merch including patches and bracelets were dished out to winners and losers, which was almost impossible to differentiate throughout the day... unfortunately no one was able to claim the title of The G of Squats Day because no one returned with a stolen commie flag from the rival lame-as-fuck £2 entry sports day organised by some tankies from the Revolutionary Communist Party in a park on the other side of town (they actually did this, on the same day as ours, LOL), we were all having way too much fun to go there and steal their shite flags, plus there's always next year...

p.s. although we did remove all the rubbish from the park itself some was left on the surrounding street in a selfless and symbolic act to battle gentrification in this town.

Till the next Squats Day! Up the squatterz!

BASTARD WATCH

A BUMPER EDITION TO CELEBRATE THE TRIUMPHANT RETURN OF BASTARD WATCH AS WE AWAKEN TO....

Every PISsraeli settler on palestinian land

Yes, that's right, normally we defend the act of trespass, but the settlers of the West Bank and other areas of Palestine are a certain hemorrhoid on par with any bailiff or mafioso property owner, thus deserving of all being put on Bastard Watch. Funnily enough there's an Israeli narrative that the Palestinian people are squatting land that is rightfully theirs, and thus have a right to remove them. We disrespectfully disagree. Fuck COLONIALISM.

international shite

BRUSSELS SQUAT ARE-S-HOLUKKY TO SEE OFF THE DRIFTERS AND BAILIFFS

Collectif Zone Neutre, a squat of 70 people mainly comprised of undocumented migrants, faced off against the police and bailiffs in August, one week after they held a well-attended anti-eviction festival. Some famous football cunt is involved in the company trying to evict them, and they're trying to put pressure on him, butt also the MOVEMENT once again PACES up to those (S)tools.

KASA INVISIVEL IS VERY VISIBLY FIGHTING FROM THE BOTTOM UP.

Having completed a tour of Europe in 2024, the anti-capitalist collective of the Kasa Invisivel squat in Belo Horizonte, Brazil, have just gone on tour of South America to again link up with other like minded groups, saying "fuck the borders, we go where we want". Very CHEEKY

MILANO TAKES NO CAZZO

Leoncavallo stayed for 50 years if you include their original occupation, one of the oldest squats

In Italy was evicted one morning in August, a surprise from the far-right Italian government, given the collective thought they were still in negotiations with the municipality. 2 weeks later 50,000 people took to the streets of Milan to protest the eviction and demand security for other autonomous spaces in the country, facing down riot coppers and taking control of the city centre for the day. What a hummer. Siamo Tutti Antifascisti!!

WARSAW CREW DROPPING IN TO SAY THEY BEING LOOKED AT. WHAT A TO DO(DO DOO)!

Greetings from Friendship Collective squatting 16 wooden houses at Friendship estate in Warsaw. It appears that administration of our neighbourhood who tried to kick us out several times (butt we always come back the same day...) cares so much about us that they are trying to hire a private security company with CCTV to keep us safe! We are very excited and already making bets on who first will catch 'em all. Real Scooby-doo shit going on in here!

PS
We have central heating.

SQUAT TOILET COMPETITION: FINAL CALLOUT

Think your toilet is the worst in the scene? or perhaps the best? Multiple (S)categories, multiple awards, multiple bogs backed up with shit. Contact @squatmemes with a picture and your crew name to enter! New deadline 23/09/25

SQUASONY AUNT:

Your crew problems, our solutions! (Urine luck We'll ass-cyst)

Q: My squatmate hates people not flushing. On finding a massive shitherg left floating in there one day, he decided to rip the whole toilet out and throw it out of the window. "If i can't use it, nobody can" he says. He says it was justified but we've had to poo into bags all week. What can we do to convince him to replace the toilet?

A: Leave the shit you've collected to dry out completely and you'll never need instant coffee again. Sounds like he's made life better for you all, getting up to go to the toilet is such a drag. And without a toilet in there, you've got a shiny new room. Can i move in?

STOP POSTING A SLAP IN SLAG BLOC, ITS CLOGGED!

Whatever happened to the power of shitty MS paint edits? Slag bloc is your therapist, not CHAT GPT. Stop asking an AI for life advice and badly constructed images of Luigi as a catholic saint and start badgering random crusties for it instead. 8 fingers on one hand is not punk, if you want that result then give an art student a bag of ketamine like the old days.
