ANARCHISTS HAVE LONG been associated with mindless violence in popular images. We can see The Secret Agent on television and often read of “rocks lead by anarchists” in newspapers. So what have anarchists done to deserve this? The ruling class have always used 'anarchist' as a term of abuse, even before the anarchist movement arose in the 19th century. Today's rulers never miss an opportunity to slander us either. But anarchists are not entirely without blame. Towards the end of the last century many anarchists became impatient with the slow results of 'propaganda by the word' and developed the theory of 'propaganda by the deed'. At first this was understood as the action of determined groups of revolutionaries by demonstrations, insurrections and other forms of collective direct action to ignite an already potentially revolutionary situation. But in later decades it became identified with individual assassinations. It was thought that if anarchist militants took an active lead and physically attacked members of the ruling class, the working class would be inspired to revolution. But in later decades this was understood as the action of determined groups of revolutionaries by demonstrations, insurrections and other forms of collective direct action to ignite an already potentially revolutionary situation. But in later decades it became identified with individual assassinations. It was thought that if anarchist militants took an active lead and physically attacked members of the ruling class, the working class would be inspired to revolution.

Damage

This theory was a total disaster. It left perhaps 20 prominent leaders (who were easily replaced) dead, and the whole anarchist movement severely damaged. Governments were given an excuse to pass repressive laws aimed at smashing the workers' movement and to whip up anti-anarchist hysteria. The Russian anarchist communist Kropotkin, who had been a staunch defender of these tactics was one of the first to realise that they were mistaken. In a series of articles in 1899 he stated that: “One must be with the people, who no longer want isolated acts, but want men (sic) of action inside their ranks.” He went on to warn against: “the illusion that one can defeat the coalition of exploiters with a few pounds of explosives”. It is clear that as a means of encouraging people to think and act for themselves, terrorism seeks to control struggles for their own ends. As Gerry Adams, the president of Sinn Fein said: “This is a special message for young people — no hijackings, no joy rides, no stone throwing at the Brits. If you want to do these things, there are organisations to do it for you.” Even terrorist groups which claim to be anarchist cannot escape from their vanguardist nature. An 'anarchist' from the June 2nd Movement in West Germany argued: “...analyse the methods employed at collieries. This is unacceptable. We reject the use of violence. By planting bombs in public places terrorists again show their arrogance and a disturbing contempt for human life. In any bombing campaign, whether by air force, car bomb or parcel bomb, there will inevitably be civilian casualties (or collateral damage if the bombing was done by an air force). Whilst this will provide no problem for the authorities, governments and terrorist governments in waiting, for revolutionaries this is unacceptable. We reject the random violence of terrorists but we are not pacifists either.

For us, the old violent tactics/non-violent tactics are falsely polarised. Many activities involving mass action do not involve violence, whilst others do. Large demonstrations and strikes can often turn to violence and we should accept the need for self-defence. Groups like the hit squads arising from the miners strike are genuine expression of working class resistance. It would be foolish to sit in ivory towers of idealistic principles condemning this.

As anarchists we must constantly fight in all areas of life to advance the revolutionary process. At times we will need to defend ourselves against the violence of our enemies. But no matter how hard the struggle is, or how frustrated we are in failure, we must never forget the old declaration: “the emancipation of the workers must be brought about by the workers themselves”. Elitist groups of any kind can only be a hindrance to this.
ANARCHIST COMMUNIST FEDERATION

ORGANISE!

WANT TO JOIN THE ACF?
WANT TO FIND OUT MORE?

I agree with the ACF's Aims and Principles and I would like to join the organisation ...

I would like more information about the Anarchist Communist Federation ...

Wanted:

Name:
Address:

Please tick/fill in as appropriate and return to:
ACF, PO Box 4, Buckfastleigh, Devon TQ11 OYZ.

ORGANISE! is THE national magazine of the Anarchist Communist Federation (ACF). Organise! is a quarterly theoretical and practical journal published in order to develop anarchist communist ideas. It aims to give a clear anarchist viewpoint on contemporary issues, and initiate debates on areas not normally covered by national journals.

All articles in the magazine are by ACF members unless signed. Some reflect ACF policies, others open up debate in undiscussed areas, helping us to develop our ideas further.

Please feel welcome to contribute articles to Organise! — as long as they don't conflict with our Aims and Principles we will publish them. (Letters, of course, need not agree with our A&Ps at all.)

Deadlines for next issue are 4 September for features and reviews, and 11 September for letters and news.

All contributions for the next issue should be sent to:
ACF, c/o 84b Whitechapel High Street, London E1 7QX.

A role to play

Organise!

Organise! continues the tradition of criticism and analysis of all the major problems in developing both a revolutionary theory and movement. We think that Organise! has an important role to play in the growth of a real revolutionary movement. We know from experience that many of our readers feel the same.

But we need your support to help keep the furnace burning.

Sell Organise! Although our sales are rising, we need to keep boosting survey returns, so if you can sell to friends or workmates. By selling Organise! you can help our ideas to reach more and more people.

Write for Organise! You can help to make Organise! yours by writing letters and articles.

Subscribe! Why not take out a subscription to Organise! So better still take out a supporter's subscription. Get your friends to subscribe to or treat them to a subscription!

SUBSCRIBE:

What they said about Organise! "Very well-written... Whether or not you agree with their politics, this time is definitely worth checking out..." — Anarchy, US Anarchist magazine.

"So, 'Cheque'us out."

Organise! editors.

Name:
Address:

Enclose £3 for a four-issue sub (or £6 for a four-issue supporting sub). Add 50p for overseas subs or institutions. Back issues: 1984, Anarchist "Mailing List" (also available in SAE); 1985-1989, Whitechapel High Street, London E1 7QX.

Organise! is sent to over 25 countries. For additional copies, please send £2.50 per issue.

Feedback

Organise! will improve through a two-way process of criticism and feedback, and will better reflect the reality of struggle through readers communicating with us. Please write in with your ideas. Please send all feedback, contributions for Organise!, requests for papers and Press Fund money (payable to ACF) to:
ACF, c/o 84b Whitechapel High Street, London E1 7QX.

Who we are

Organise! is the national magazine of the Anarchist Communist Federation. Organise! is an organisation of class struggle anarchists. Its structure is based on the ACF's Aims and Principles. We have members in the following areas:

Aberystwyth
Ashtead
Blaenau Ffestiniog
Chester-le-Street
Coventry
Derry
Devon
Gateshead
Haxham
London
Manchester
Menthyr Tydfil
Middlesbrough
Newcastle
Nottingham
Portsmouth
Saffron Walden
Stoke-on-Trent
Worcester

Who are we...

The Anarchist Communist Federation is an organisation of class struggle anarchists. Its structure is based on the ACF's Aims and Principles. We have members in the following areas:

Aberystwyth
Ashtead
Blaenau Ffestiniog
Chester-le-Street
Coventry
Derry
Devon
Gateshead
Haxham
London
Manchester
Menthyr Tydfil
Middlesbrough
Newcastle
Nottingham
Portsmouth
Saffron Walden
Stoke-on-Trent
Worcester

Since October, 16,000 out of the 40,000 workforce in the pits have left the industry in demoralisation. In the second week of June a further 3,000 redundancies were announced by the National Coal Board — this time among the white-collar workers. Twenty-five pits have now or will be announced to the private sector — if there are no takers they will be shut. The pits closure programme continues. And after this huge demonstration and widespread sympathy for the miners, Scargill came out with a lot of hot air about solidarity action from other workers, in particular the railworkers, and then organised token one day stoppages. He and the rest of the NUM leadership hope this will mean not so many redundancies, if this can be used to negotiate a compromise. But it still means negotiation to let many redundancies go ahead, and this is exactly what has happened.

It is not a question of bad and petty gestures leading the class war, it is the fact that the workers who are not there are not there to defend the interests of the working class. Action by workers out...

WANT TO JOIN THE ACF? WANT TO FIND OUT MORE?

I agree with the ACF's Aims and Principles and I would like to join the organisation ...

I would like more information about the Anarchist Communist Federation ...

Wanted:

Name:
Address:

Please tick/fill in as appropriate and return to:
ACF, PO Box 4, Buckfastleigh, Devon TQ11 OYZ.

NEWS AND ANALYSIS

Union sabotage

THE SLAUGHTER OF the pits continues with no real action being taken to stop their closure. As we said in Organise! No. 25, the National Union of Mineworkers concentrated on mobilising 'public opinion' and going through the courts. This was designed to head off direct action among miners and other sections of the working class in solidarity. Three months later, the situation is worsened and no further action has been taken by the NUM.

And at Timex...

A bitter struggle by workers at Timex in Dundee looks set to continue, despite the threatened closure of the plant. When Timex announced a lay-off of over 400 workers for up to 26 weeks, strike action took place straight away. On the first day a mass picket of over a hundred was mounted, in defiance of the law. The Timex workers didn't just picket the factory gate, they converged on the homes of scabs and pick-up points for scabs. From the word go, the organising committee, the AEEU, has worked to sabotage the strike. The strike has been characterised by regular mass meetings. At the first mass meeting, the AEEU leaders — that they supported the need to lay-off. For them it was a question of who controlled the lay-offs. They were prepared to offer something in return, but the engineering section of the Timex workforce, fighting the union has announced closure of the plant within months, saying they will take workers back on the run-down. This is a bluff, designed to end the strike. They have conthey were prepared to offer something in return, but the engineering section of the Timex workforce, fighting the union has announced closure of the plant within months, saying they will take workers back on the run-down. This is a bluff, designed to end the strike. They have con-

Friends and neighbours

If you like what you read in Organise! you might be interested in these publications:

Counter Information. Quarterly newsletter produced by independent collective. Information on struggle worldwide. Free copy with SAE from Pigeonhole Cl, c/o 11 Fox Street, Whitechapel High Street, London E1 7QX.

Subversion. Quarterly magazine of group of name, political view, takes to our views. Free copy from Dept 13, 1 Newton St, Manchester M1 1HW.
Travellers, squatters and economic crisis

THE CAPITALIST SYSTEM has over the past century stagnered from one crisis to another, labelled by "racism, nationalism and war when its more usual sudden de-tions become less effective in providing the social hierarchy. Recently, capitalists seem to be sailing up shift creek without a paddle, but in the West End's long-running fakir house, the Houses of Parliament, they seem more concerned with apparently minor issues like travellers and squatters that 'blight' the lives of rural and urban dwellers than with their usual pre-tance of solving the economic crisis. Could it be that the resistance into 'legitimate channels' such as voting and even peace into harmless institutions like Parliament, trade unions and pressure groups. At all times, the state may tinker with the system under pressure from mass struggle, but it will never make any fundamental changes. The Police stays the same, only the guards change. The immediate reaction to the governments' attention to the travelling people was to be leaner and fitter to their lives trying to payoff their debts and compromise credit. Thus, they too could be

Debt Cycle

Those who remained in employment were offered a piece of the opportunity to buy their council houses at a knock down price or a dream home on easy credit. Thus, too could be trapped in a debt cycle, spending their lives trying to pay off a mortgage and even more in dreed of becoming unem-

Where do squatters and travellers fit into this? The answer is that they have said a collective 'up yours' to the state and have attempted to supply for themselves what they can't get from the system. The travelling lifestyle escapes the misery of mortgage, rent and bills, a crap life and compromise. Squatters chalgene property by 'violating' the absurd 'right' of a landlord

The columns of both the establishment press and the left press were recently full of gloating testimonies to the murdered leader of the South African Communist Party and African National Congress, Chris Hani. We do not share their dismay. Hani prepared his own grave by the policies he and his party pursued. His murder shows the logical out-

The above article was sent in by a comrade outside the ACF.

Assassination

It is likely that Hani was involved in the public assassination of Sipho Phungulwa in the Transkei in June 1990. This ANC militant had been involved in the 1984 mutiny which was three weeks before his death had assisted at a press conference to anti-apartheid journalists, which revealed the suppression of the mutiny and the repression within the ANC. Former mutineers be-

Hani was a son of a Transkei construction worker, be-

He became an active member of the South African Commu-

In 1984, in the Umkhonto eralised industry was to be

Hani was elected to the ANC executive, becom-

The above article was sent in by a comrade outside the ACF.

In 1989 Hani was con-

4 Organise! No. 31 July-Sept 1993

4 Organise! No. 31 July-Sept 1993
Known as general secretary of the Communist party, he was pushed for rapprochement with the Afrikaner regime and for democratic elections. By the late 1970s, Somalis, by the uso... and B. Burrell. Inkatha, could be ignored. He was instrumental in sabotag... in the guise of a ‘humanitarian’ effort to relieve a country ridden by a ‘humanitarian’ effort to relieve a country ridden by a... and oil rich Horn of Africa. Somalia has been at the centre of most interstate con-... of livestock to sustain its ... of Somalia’s Gross Do... al, the US and other occupying troops, under the cover of the UN, launched a vicious bomb-... of the ‘pacification’ of the East African naas... have been unable to see beyond that... 6 Organise! No. 31 July-Sept 1993 7

SOMALIA
— colonialism by other means?

The sham of ‘Operation Restore Hope’

SOMALIA is an occupied country. It is occupied by United Nations forces, by forces under the de facto command of the imperialist countries, particularly Washington. Then, late last year, came the British-sponsored ‘Operation Restore Hope’, which involved more than 20,000 US troops to Somalia under the guise of a ‘humanitarian’ effort to relieve a country ridden by a civil war. The fault, of course, had, of course, dressed up as a rescue operation: Somalia had been going hungry, UN forces would protect those who the US could not.

Yet both the media and the then-President failed to mention that earlier US intervention had destabilised Somalia in the first place — that the US-backed Somalis who sought to make war on Ethiopia, and that this war had undermined the Somalis regime and finally led to the break-up of the country. They also omitted to mention the vital economic and geopolitical ‘interests’ fuelling the US strategic logic in US forces: that the ‘pacification’ of the East African nations is under their control. These underlying foundations for US military inter-... the 1991 US invasion of Kuwait to pro-... the capital of Mogadishu, and economic interest. The aim of the US military in Operation Restore Hope is to... and economic and political interests. Because European colonialism split Somal-... somalia to five states — French Somaliland (now Djibouti), Ethiopia, Kenya, Ital-... and Sudan. Before the collapse of Barre’s regime, the US government pro-... in Somalia, but secured US military ties at Berbera and ... 1991, already held the ‘rights’ to oil concessions amounting to 1/3 of Somalia’s total production, which allowed the oil compa-... Somalia, especially in Kenya and Ethiopia, into one nation. Proceeding the Ethiopian Em-... the 1991 overthrown in January 1991, already held the ‘rights’ to oil conces-... the Horn of Africa, which includes Ethiopia, Djibouti, Somalia, Eritrea, and Sudan. For more than 30 years, the US poured military arms, worth approximately 1 billion dollars, into Ethiopia and Somalia, and by the time of the collapse of Barre’s political authority in autumn 1990, the US government had given Barre’s regime a total of $579 million in US arms transfers consisting of military supplies. As one of the leading suppliers to Somalia, the US could not allow Barre, the US government to help maintain Barre’s po-... Armed Forces, FARDC — another colonial relic in Mogadishu. Barre used the military arms provided by the US and other imperialist powers to attempt to suppress political dissent, both by directly supporting clan-families which opposed his rule and by pit-... the Horn of Africa by anti-US political/military power. A Somali writer in the New... been able to see beyond that... 6 Organise! No. 31 July-Sept 1993

Ace

Ace pamphlets are available from c/o 84b Whitechapel High Street, London E1 7QX.

Making Progress. Describe how and why the ACP was formed, and the continuing evolution of our ideas, and practice. A ‘beginner’s guide’ to ACP 30p & SAE. Manifesto of Libertarian Communism by Georges Fontes. A key text of anarchist communism. Though flawed, the best features need to be incorporated into modern revolutionary theory and practice. 25p & SAE.

Myth of Labour’s Socialism. Labourism, the ideology that married, the business as usual, that is continuing ex-... 60p & SAE.

Role of the Revolutionary Organisation. Anarchist communists reject the Leninist model of a ‘vanguard’ party as contrary to the ANC’s terms of reference for the new organisa-... 60p & SAE.
Beyond capitalism’s core

CORE AND PERIPHERY are words used to describe a basic division in the capitalist world between the so-called advanced capitalist countries and the underdeveloped countries.

We can agree the whole world is dominated by capital, whether as a mode of production or by virtue of the capitalist world market which orders and controls forms of production which are not in the interest of the capitalist. Such words have been used to describe certain terms like Third World.

The words used to describe the developing world is dominated by capital, whether as a mode of production or by virtue of the capitalist world market, orders and controls forms of production which are not in the interest of the capitalist. Such words have been used to describe certain terms like Third World.

In the hope of opening a debate between revolutionaries in both the core and periphery concerning tasks as revolutionaries. In the hope of opening a debate between revolutionaries in both the core and periphery concerning tasks as revolutionaries. Such debate will be important if there is to be convergence between revolutionary organizations and the necessary coalitions of workers and intellectuals which is a prelude to a successful revolution.

A variety of Third World intellectuals has offered ideas about the importance of creating new and revolutionary forms of organizations and co-operation in the core and the periphery.

In each case the working class (not the same thing), the bosses are out of power or have given in. Unfortunately such rigid organizations are not the answer. The bosses have no patronage deal with those in power, they seek to maintain integrated into the bourgeoisie of the poor world is subordinated to the capitalist global economy; with different levels and forms of exploitation by international capital.

The working classes (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

We can say that the economy of the periphery is under the control of the national and international bourgeoisie.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.

The working class (I use the plural to denote the fact that there are workers involved in both industrial and agricultural production) of the periphery suffer extreme exploitation of poverty without any welfare state to fall back on. They are poorly paid, underemployed, they often have little chance of medical care, they suffer bad housing, poor education, poor food, and all manner of coercion and oppression. But this description can only be a gross generalisation. Each area of the periphery has its own boundaries and its own foreign policy. The working class functions as a whole.
sian nationalists would whip up pro-Serbia sentiments in Russia and overthrow Yeltsin. This would lead to a further disintegration of the Russian federation compared to which the USSR was a like a game of marbles.

Unification

As for Germany, military intervention by the situation at home. The unification of Germany was greatly facilitated by the West German ruling class. Now, however, the working class in the East is taking military intervention to gain wage parity with their fellow workers in the West. The cost of unification has proved to be much higher than predicted. Kohl had been forced to raise taxes for this and the German working class is pre-occupied with internal problems and military intervolves the whole of Europe.

It seems now that the Western powers would prefer to let Serbia develop as a separate state in the new Bosnia between them, as agreed by the Yugoslav deal. This comes after much more cant about how the Bosnian Muslims will be protected. In order of priority, the West is interested in a wall to keep out the large numbers of Muslims who are the internal enemy.

The same work has also confirmed that the Malthusian pattern of population growth is declining. This is because the demand for food is increasing and the food supply is not increasing as fast. This is due to the fact that the food supply is not increasing as fast as the demand for it.

Darwin and natural selection

Charles Darwin was a geologist and a natural scientist, a student of the history of life. He is famous for his theory of evolution first published in 1859 in a book On the Origin of Species by Means of Natural Selection. This book proposed that species are in a ruthless competition to survive. He thought that 'natural' competition, the idea that species are in a ruthless competition to survive, is the reason why many species have become extinct.

Darwin's theory has always been known as the 'survival of the fittest' theory. It was the first part of his theory that attracted all the hostility, because it directly challenges the idea that species are in a ruthless competition to survive. Darwin's theory has been known to be wrong and has been refuted by many scientists.

Darwin's theory has been known to be wrong and has been refuted by many scientists. However, the theory has been known to be right and has been supported by many scientists.

Co-evolution

Here is a section of an essay entitled 'Co-evolution' by Murjoy Keck, that gives a different approach to the idea of evolution.

"Ecology denies that nature can be interpreted from a hierarchical viewpoint. Yet Darwin's theory of evolution and the ecosystem approach to the idea of evolution are closely linked. The survival of the fittest dogma goes unchanged because of the ideological link between Darwinism and the capitalist system. A revulsion against the war in Yugoslavia has created a cultural climate for evolution. The fundamental reason why Malthus is not universally accepted is because the idea of evolution is not in the interests of the ruling class. Because it questions the natural order of society."

Karl Marx and history

One of the cornerstones of Marxist ideology is the idea that the transitions from primitive communal society through slavery and feudalism to capitalism and then from capitalism to socialism, are both progressive and revolutionary. In addition, the inevitable evolutionary process will lead from capitalism to communism via a transitional phase of socialism.

Modern scientific knowledge enables us critically to examine the history of life on this planet and the evolutionary process that led to the origin of the species, Marx was to write. In the end, the history of development of life on Earth, the process by which it evolved from simple to complex forms, is not the result of natural selection but of a process of evolution that is not under the control of the natural world.

The development of life on Earth, the process by which it evolved from simple to complex forms, is not the result of natural selection but of a process of evolution that is not under the control of the natural world.
Anarchists meet in Ireland

ON THE WEEKEND of 20 June the comrades of the Organisers! class struggle anarchist group hosted a summer camp alongside Organisers! members from Belgium and Portugal. Several members of the Dublin branch of the Workers Solidarity Movement, an observer from the British anarcho-syndicalist Direct Action Movement and two observers from the London group of the ACF.

Over the course of the weekend, discussions, formal and informal, took place concerning a wide range of topics. On the first day, our Organisation committee's history of the crisis and the possibility of reform were discussed. On the second, a detailed discussion took place on the nature of permanent economic organisations of the working class, while all participants believed that workplace action should remain at the heart of any struggle. On the third day, the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

Discussions continued in a slightly lighter vein in the pub that evening and of course the disciplined revolutionary present were careful not to be hung over for the following morning's session on Ireland. A talk by a member of the Organisers! member concerned 'Loyalism and the Protestant code' and the need for a new understanding of the nature of class struggle, the loosening of 'Ulster nationalism', the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

In the last paragraph you say: 'The psychological comfort it gave us, the damage it does' — surely you can't find anything positive in your so-called 'psychological comfort of religion'. We won't even try to understand what you mean by 'religion is a tool of the ruling classes used to maintain or expand profits', 'occupying positions' in the public sector, 'by a number of organisations (such as ACF, Subversion) and individuals as yet unaligned'.

To oppose new unions, union bosses are swallowing private enterprise and the welfare state, have no songs because they are too scared or the song is 'Can you Hear the Scab Calling?'

The point about 'psychological comfort' is to contrast the appeal of religion with the materialist comfort of the political movement. We agree that religion is a tool of the ruling class, but we believe that it is important to be able to oppose new unions, union bosses are swallowing private enterprise and the welfare state, have no songs because they are too scared or the song is 'Can you Hear the Scab Calling?'

The real issue is the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle, the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

promamy, based either on God’s laws or Darwin’s 'natural science', together with Marxian, need not be alien to the ideas presented in the David book. Words worth reading include: Descartes on Earth, A brief survey of the amount of the scientific flaws in Darwinism.

We've been flooded with letters so cannot include everyone. We promise to put them in the next issue. Keep on writing!

Dennis: D-selected!

For far too long, boxes have been able to get away with attacks on unions as they supply the union’s managers with a new generation of workers to support your movement. As for be- ing satisfied with being in the Unions: The bosses, the managers, the unions and the bosses are all part of the same order as the businesses they are working for. These bosses, the managers, the unions and the bosses are all part of the same order as the businesses they are working for.

The trade union issue

Dear Organisers!

A readable way of approaching the whole issue of the unions is to relate it to current events and trends. In the past, the unions and the syndicalist approach has continued for many years and there always seem to be enough parasites for each side of the argument to keep it holding.

There are a number of disputes brewing or on the boil but we can say that none of them are, in any sense, anything but, a simple means to an end. The need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

In the case of the rail workers we see the union bosses applying the union's power, strike days and intense negotiation to achieve the maximum industrial strength of their union. An argument with reference to Ireland. The need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

Our task as revolutionaries must be to agitate for and make public alternatives to this whole process — alternative strategies and forms of organisation, a simple idea of unity in struggle. The potential for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

...because otherwise we would have no songs because they are too scared or the song is 'Can you Hear the Scab Calling?'

We don’t think these are the only solutions that could be possible. Incidentally, a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

50 members of the growing movement of mass struggle organisations, not aligned with any of the major political parties. The need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

The Union is a tool of the ruling class, and an energy policy set to deci- sively unleash the world: the anarchists' for the world. The real issue is the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle, the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

The psychological comfort it gave us, the damage it does — surely you can’t find anything positive in your so-called 'psychological comfort of religion'. We won’t even try to understand what you mean by ‘occupying positions' in the public sector, ‘by a number of organisations (such as ACF, Subversion) and individuals as yet unaligned'.

Promamy, based either on God’s laws or Darwin’s 'natural science', together with Marxian, need not be alien to the ideas presented in the David book. Words worth reading include: Descartes on Earth, A brief survey of the amount of the scientific flaws in Darwinism.

One of those things is a tur- ning group. "Organisers! solidarity" means local basis with union's managers with a new generation of workers to support your movement. As for being satisfied with being in the Unions: The bosses, the managers, the unions and the bosses are all part of the same order as the businesses they are working for.

The real issue is the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle, the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

Promamy, based either on God’s laws or Darwin’s 'natural science', together with Marxian, need not be alien to the ideas presented in the David book. Words worth reading include: Descartes on Earth, A brief survey of the amount of the scientific flaws in Darwinism.

We've been flooded with letters so cannot include everyone. We promise to put them in the next issue. Keep on writing!

Dennis: D-selected!

For far too long, boxes have been able to get away with attacks on unions as they supply the union’s managers with a new generation of workers to support your movement. As for being satisfied with being in the Unions: The bosses, the managers, the unions and the bosses are all part of the same order as the businesses they are working for.

The trade union issue

Dear Organisers!

A readable way of approaching the whole issue of the unions is to relate it to current events and trends. In the past, the unions and the syndicalist approach has continued for many years and there always seem to be enough parasites for each side of the argument to keep it holding.

There are a number of disputes brewing or on the boil but we can say that none of them are, in any sense, anything but, a simple means to an end. The need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

In the case of the rail workers we see the union bosses applying the union's power, strike days and intense negotiation to achieve the maximum industrial strength of their union. An argument with reference to Ireland. The need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

Our task as revolutionaries must be to agitate for and make public alternatives to this whole process — alternative strategies and forms of organisation, a simple idea of unity in struggle. The potential for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

...because otherwise we would have no songs because they are too scared or the song is 'Can you Hear the Scab Calling?'

We don’t think these are the only solutions that could be possible. Incidentally, a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

50 members of the growing movement of mass struggle organisations, not aligned with any of the major political parties. The need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

The Union is a tool of the ruling class, and an energy policy set to deci- sively unleash the world: the anarchists' for the world. The real issue is the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle, the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

One of those things is a tur- ning group. "Organisers! solidarity" means local basis with union's managers with a new generation of workers to support your movement. As for being satisfied with being in the Unions: The bosses, the managers, the unions and the bosses are all part of the same order as the businesses they are working for.

The real issue is the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle, the need for a new generation of workers to support the struggle was highlighted.

Promamy, based either on God’s laws or Darwin’s 'natural science', together with Marxian, need not be alien to the ideas presented in the David book. Words worth reading include: Descartes on Earth, A brief survey of the amount of the scientific flaws in Darwinism.

The ideas of Murray Bookchin on ecology, over-population and Marxism are par-
Editor's reply: Organise! comes out quarterly. With so much going on, especially with regard to problems with deciding what to print. Obviously, if we are weekly or daily (speed the print process), we will have coverage of films, records, literature. If we had the resources to publish a magazine devoted to culture, politics, music, and literature, we would produce a magazine dedicated to culture. The paucity of culture is not due to lack of cultural workers, but to lack of culture, and people, not being themselves, well that's a matter of taste, and some might think that is an improvement. We are not interested in the idea of the article intended to deal with culture. With punk, the right to have a place in the book was to examine the expression of culture. Publications containing little or no mention of culture are considered irrelevant. If you don't understand and agree with the works of Bob Darke. Irate Press. £1 from RO'S (Belfast)

1. The Anarchist Communist Federation is an organisation of revolutionary class struggle, aiming to implement the abolition of all hierarchy, and without the assumption of power over people. Its methods are those of the about two world-class societies: capital and anarchism.

2. Capitalism is based on the exploitation of human beings by the ruling class by the ruling class. But inequality is a constant factor in society, as expressed in terms of race, gender, sexuality, and income. These are one side of the story, the other is the exploitation of music. Oppressed groups are strengthened by autonomous action which challenges social and economic power relationships. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

3. As anarchists we organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

4. We are opposed to the ideological divide between communists and anarchists. Traditions unite the movement that claims that the fate of the working class is determined by the choice between native bosses and the revolutionaries (or unions and workers' self-

5. We believe that fighting racism and sexism is as important as fighting the class struggle. Anarchist-communist movements have traditionally been associated with the working class, and have been active in the struggle against their oppression. The working class is the fundamental basis of the Anarchist Communist Federation. Racism and sexism are not just problems of the working class. They are also experienced in terms of race, gender, sexuality, and income. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against.

6. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

7. Unionism is not due to lack of class differences and political and economic power relationships. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

8. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

9. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

10. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

11. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

12. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

13. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.

14. We believe that the creation of any new ruling class will be fought against. The working class has no country and national boundaries will always be different to ours. The class war is our enemy, and while we must fight for better conditions from this. In order to achieve this, we must organise ourselves collectively, to carry on the battle for revolution. To achieve our goal we must relinquish power over each other as part of a new political level.